LITERARY NOTES.

A story of unusual power and strange plot will begin in the May Cosmopontan and run through three numbers: The story of a man-who three times in his life undertakes to paint who three times in his life undertakes to paint Jesus. As a young painter full of health and life, full of joy, he puts on his canvass, a Greek ideat of strength and heautyr just as the picture is on the point of completion, he learns to love a heautiful woman who returns his passion. After weeks at her feet he returns to his studio and is filled with disappointment when he gazes woon the face of pointment when he gazes upon the face of the Chaist. It is the face of a beautiful heaththe Chaist. It is the face of a beautiful heathen god bearing no impress of that divine love which the painter now knows must belong there. Inspired by love he sets to work upon the image of a new Christ, who would be a God of Love. Again his picture is completed when the second great change comes over his life. She whom he adores turns from him to give her love to the President for whose to give her love to the Prussian officer whose Greek beauty had been the model for his first picture. Going back to work under the shadow of this deep sorrow, he looks upon the face of Christ upon his easel and sees that once more he has failed. There is the beautiful face irridating love, but there is not up-May number of the Cosmopolitan will attract attention; two real war stories by men who have been in the thickest of the fight.
